ONLINE COURSE ON COMPREHENSIVE SEXUALITY EDUCATION FOR TEACHERS AND EDUCATORS (Moderated) Summer 2019

Calling for applications for TARSHI's eLearning course on Comprehensive Sexuality Education (CSE) for teachers and educators!

Deadline Extended to 18th May, 2019

(more details on page 2)

Why a course on CSE?

In our over 23 years of experience working on sexuality related issues, we have found that teachers and educators often find it challenging to discuss sexuality related issues in classrooms and school settings. This is especially so given they have little training, preparation or scope to explore their own doubts and feelings about gender, sex, sexuality.

This eLearning course aims to fill this gap created by the lack of teacher training on CSE and to equip educators with skills to engage with sexual and reproductive health issues within schools and institutions. It provides exposure to various concepts such as CSE, sexuality, gender and on topics such as body image, technology and its influence on young people, harassment of teachers and students, etc., and provides a space for self-reflection and values clarification. The course is adapted from The Orange Book, a workbook developed by TARSHI in 2010, aimed at helping teachers provide CSE with confidence and ease.

What methodologies does the eLearning course use?

The eLearning course is in English, and incorporates dynamic exercises and external resources such as videos, relevant eMagazine and online newspaper articles, scholarly and academic reports combined with TARSHI's content.

Real life stories, case studies, academic articles and multimedia resources have been woven into core content to address sensitive and challenging issues in inventive and personalised ways.

Who is this course for?

This course is especially designed for teachers, academics, educators, and other professionals working with schools, colleges, institutions and universities. Having said this, the course is open for anyone who engages with sexuality related issues, both at professional or personal levels.

What is the structure of the course?

The course has 6 modules and each module has 3-4 chapters. Each chapter has exercises that begin with basic concepts and cover more complex issues, requiring participants to reflect upon related issues from their workplace and professional experience.

What are the benefits of a moderated course?

- Discounted course fee
- Mentorship during the course period
- An opportunity to be a part of an alumni group (this is a closed Facebook group) on completion of the course
- A onetime 10% discount on any of TARSHI's publication (within India)

Certification

The responses submitted by the learner will be analysed taking a non-judgmental approach to ascertain the learner's level of engagement with the topics and understanding of CSE from a rights-based perspective. Based on this process by TARSHI reviewers, an eCertificate is awarded. The eCertificate only indicates completion of the course. It is NOT a certification by TARSHI of the skills or credentials of the learner in transacting sexuality related information in any setting, and may not be used as such by any learner.

About the course organisers

TARSHI is an NGO based in New Delhi, India that believes that all people have the right to sexual well-being and to a self-affirming and enjoyable sexuality. Our work on sexuality is towards creating Safe, Inclusive, Sexuality-Affirming (SISA) spaces, which are non-judgmental, rights-based and sexuality-affirming environments, where sexuality is no longer surrounded by shame or taboo. TARSHI was founded in 1996 and today its work comprises capacity building, content creation and raising awareness on various issues related to sexuality in the Global South.
